

AMERICAN MEDICAL WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION
THE VISION AND VOICE OF WOMEN IN MEDICINE SINCE 1915

HISTORY

The American Medical Women's Association (AMWA) is an organization of women physicians, medical students and other professionals dedicated to serving the unique voice for women's health and the advancement of women in medicine. The organization was founded by Dr. Bertha VanHoosen in 1915 in Chicago, at a time when women physicians were an under-represented minority. As women in medicine increased in numbers, new problems and issues arose that were not anticipated. AMWA has been addressing these issues for 95 years.
